

Junior Designer

Electric Bowery Ltd – Los Angeles, CA (Venice Beach)

For a firm profile please visit: <http://www.electricbowery.com/about/>

We are a Venice Beach based architectural and multi-disciplinary design studio looking for a full-time Junior Designer with a minimum of a 5-year professional Bachelor's of Architecture degree, Master's Degree in Architecture, or technical degree equivalent. Our studio provides many opportunities for professional growth and experience regarding design, documentation and development of unique, modern architectural ideas. Our work is highly diversified and consists of hospitality, commercial, mixed use, multi-family residential, high end custom single family residential work, and interior design.

Minimum experience requirements for consideration are 2+ years of full-time office work experience, a strong knowledge of and proficiency in Revit and AutoCAD, as well as experience in preparing Construction Documents. Proficiency in written and spoken English is a must. Other related and desirable skills would include: proficiency in Adobe Suite programs and all basic Microsoft Office programs, familiarity with local Building and Zoning Codes, and familiarity with fundamental construction methodology. Responsibilities are based on the applicant's abilities but would typically consist of assistance with the development of For Permit and For Construction drawing sets for architectural and interior design drawings sets, communication and coordination with consultants, clients, and team members, as well as participation in City meetings & filing of For Permit sets. Photoshop/Rendering expertise is a plus.

We offer competitive salaries commensurate with experience, an office mentoring program for professional development, and opportunities for rapid advancement in the profession, as well as full benefits (health & dental).

To be considered for the position, please provide a job history that include the name(s) of the company and your salary history, and a portfolio of professional work complete at previous offices. Also please include 2-3 professional references that we may contact.

All documentation may be emailed directly to info@electricbowery.com